

2005 NCAA SCOREKEEPING

PAVO

DEVELOPED BY KEVIN GOULD
NCVOB

This presentation must be viewed with the 2003 version of Microsoft Power Point or higher.

The purpose of this presentation is two-fold. It is equally beneficial for scorekeepers at any experience level.

New Scorekeepers – The majority of the slides follow parts of a “sample game” designed to cover the basics of scorekeeping. The “game” starts on slide #10 at which point you can use a blank score sheet to follow along point by point.

Experienced Scorekeepers – The presentation covers new sections of the score sheet and serves as a quick resource. The following contents section will easily guide you to the slide that covers the particular area you’re interested in.

Scorekeeping Procedures Prior to the Match

Arrival Time – Arrive at least 30 minutes prior to match time, ready to work. Avoid being overly friendly with fans, players or coaches.

Be in proper attire – Wear a white polo shirt (preferably the same polo worn by the referees, with “Volleyball Certified Official” embroidered on one sleeve), navy slacks, white socks and white athletic shoes.

Additional preparation – It is a good idea to bring extra pens (both blue or black and red) and a horn or whistle for emergency situations.

Scorekeeper – General Responsibilities

Prior to the match and each game, the scorekeeper:

Registers the data of the teams;

Reviews the lineup information submitted by each team for completeness and accuracy;

Records the starting lineup of each team from the lineup sheet.

ASSOCIATION OF
OFFICIALS

Scorekeeper – General Responsibilities

During the match, the scorekeeper:

Records the points scored and ensures the accuracy of the visible scoreboard;

Monitors each team's serving order;

Records timeouts and player substitutions, and informs the second referee of the number used;

Communicates with the second referee regarding the final point of the game and when the eighth point in the deciding game is scored;

Records sanctions;

Records all other events as instructed by the second referee (for example, exceptional substitutions or prolonged interruptions).

Scorekeeper – General Responsibilities

After the game, the scorekeeper:

Records the final game results;

Checks the scoresheet for accuracy;

Signs the scoresheet.

Tools for Scorekeeping

Scoresheets – At least four non-deciding game sheets and one deciding game sheet

Libero Tracking Sheets – One Libero Tracking Sheet should be enough for even a five-game match, but having extra is a good idea.

Lineup Sheets - If the lineup sheets have space to enter all games of the match, each team needs only one. Otherwise, a sufficient number of single game lineup sheets for the entire match are required.

Pens – One blue (or black) pen, and one red pen

Sounding device - A horn or whistle

#11 serves again and A&M wins the rally. Record an "R" (for rotate) in the circle, and immediately slash the first point in A&M's running score column. Then, write a "1" with no other symbol in A&M's scoring section, on the line of the player that will serve next.

In addition to recording the libero exchanges, the AS must note the serving position of the libero to help ensure that the libero only serves in one position in each game. When a libero contacts the ball to serve, a triangle is written around the corresponding Roman numeral in the “Serving Order” column to note the only service order where the libero can serve for the remainder of the game.

Other Penalty Point procedures...

Serving team penalty

If the serving team receives a red card while the ball is out of play, a square is used instead of a circle in the scoring section. A “R” is recorded in the square. The resulting point for the opponent is recorded in the normal manner

If the card is issued while the ball is already in play, an “R” is put inside the circle that was drawn at the service contact, and a square is placed around the circle. The resulting point for the opponent is recorded in the normal manner

Receiving team penalty – If the card is issued while the ball is already in play, the point is put inside the circle that was drawn at service contact, and a square is drawn around the circle. A square is also used to record the point in the running score.

The SK should check that the correct player is serving prior to every serve, so most wrong servers will be detected prior to contact. In that case, no circle is drawn in the Scoring Section. The referee is notified and a square is drawn when the incorrect player serves, and an "R" is written in it, followed by normal loss of rally procedures.

Unusual Situations

Other Comments – The comments section is used anytime a noteworthy situation occurs and is pertinent to the progress of the game. Document the score, team involved, referee action, and uniform numbers if applicable. Comments are made for:

-  Exceptional Substitutions
-  Expulsions
-  Disqualifications
-  Corrections

Scorekeeper Errors – If the SK makes a mistake, the mistake is crossed out with an “X” and the correct symbol is written.

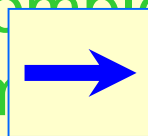

Forfeits – If a game is forfeited before its start, the scorekeeper prepares the score sheet by filling in the heading, officials’ names, lineup of players and/or team present and a score of 30-0, then writes FORFEIT across the score sheet. If more than one game of the match is forfeited, the same score sheet is used for all games with additional game numbers circled in the GAME section. The scorekeeper then signs the score sheet.

YES! Once the libero serves, that service position is the only rotation where the libero can serve in the current game. However, the libero isn't required to serve - when the team is in that rotation, the server can be either the libero, the player the libero replaced, or any legal substitute for the starting player in that position.
